As many of you know, I don't get political about much on LinkedIn. This is an exception.

Bill Reicherter is someone I've known for over 10 years. If you live in South Florida, learn about his platform. He isn't, and I want to stress this, isn't someone who simply toes the party line. Most importantly to me, he wants education to evolve. He wants allied sciences, trades, and common sense learning to be part of every student's curriculum, not just as electives but as a core component.

Take a look at him before you simply vote by name recognition or party line. You won't be sorry.
